Yale University, acting through Yale University Library

I. Purpose and Scope

The purpose of this Agreement is to identify the roles and responsibilities of each Party and associated limitations of use as they relate to access-only service to the Fortunoff Video Archive for Holocaust Testimonies, hereinafter "Archive." Access provided to [Partner] shall be limited to authorized registered Users. Authorized Users are those individuals who have registered in the Aeon system.

Campus address:

Archive for Sterling Memorial Library Holocaust Testimonies

II. Yale Responsibilities

Yale agrees to provide access to [Partner] via secure registration processes through the Aeon system. Yale will provide a limited level of service support to [Partner] to ensure effective access. Service support may include instruction on the Fortunoff website; email communications; and live support.

III. [Partner] Responsibilities

[Partner] shall bear all costs of technical requirements and physical security measures associated with providing Archive access to Users at its own institution. Technical requirements are specified in Appendix I, Technical Specifications, attached hereto. In addition, [Partner] shall ensure that it provides adequate bandwidth and screen size in a manner to ensure effective and trouble-free viewing by Users. [Partner] shall be reasonably responsible for all security measures to prevent unauthorized access and misuse of the Archive. Access shall be provided via static IP address registered with Yale. [Partner] shall require and cause its Users to complete their own registration process in the Aeon system, whose identity shall be verified by [Partner] staff at time of use of the Archive. [Partner] shall provide access to the Archive at an approved physical site, as specified in Appendix II, that is monitored by [Partner] staff to ensure that registered users do not copy content from the archive in any way.

IV. Terms and Conditions of Use

Access to the Archive is provided by Yale to [Partner's] Users on a limited access only basis for the period that the User is physically present on [Partner's] premises in the approved and monitored location. The Archive is a copyrighted work, all rights belonging to Yale and its associated licensors. Users may view the Archive and take notes on the viewed content, but may not in any way copy, reproduce, or distribute any of the content without the express and written permission of Yale. Quotation or citation from the Archive for use in published works of any kind, including, but not limited to, scholarly journals, dissertations and theses, is expressly prohibited without prior written permission. Such permission shall not be unreasonably withheld.

V. Amendment
